

July 1690

Wednesday 16
A FAST DAY

September 1690

COMMENT. Luttrell (A Brief Relation, II, 99): The 1st instant was a great disorder at Bartholomew fair, where the mob got a head and quarrell'd with some gentlemen, upon which swords were drawn, where some were wounded and one or two killed. Monday 1
BF

COMMENT. London Gazette, No 2581, 4-7 Aug. 1690: These are to give Notice, That by Order of the Lord-Mayor and Court of Alderman of the City of London, the Fair, commonly called Lady-Fair, in the Borough of Southwark, will from henceforth be held on the 7th, 8th, and 9th of September only in every Year (according to the Grant thereof of the City) and that the Booths or Shedd's will be permitted to stand in the Streets there any longer than the said three days. Monday 8