

- Wednesday 13*
DL several times,—when the Play being ready for acting, he was prevented appearing in it, by a Relapse into his former Indisposition.—The Part was supplied a few Nights by Mr Charles Williams (a promising Player, who died young) to whom Mr Booth had given the Part to study, as doubting the Certainty of his being able to appear in it himself: But, at Mr Theobald's Entreaty (backed by many Gentlemen and Ladies) he good-naturedly (but fatally) disregarded his Indisposition, which was then an intermitting Fever, and acted that Part from the fifth to the twelfth Night; which was alas! the last time of his Appearance on the Stage.—Lives and Characters, pp. 82-83.
