COMMENT. Mainpiece: By Desire. Afterpiece: Not acted these 12 years.
[See 9 Nov. 1761.] With Additions and Alterations. [The Additions to The Fair seem to have included a number of actual animals (instead of the men costumed as an Ass and a Hog as used in Mother Shipton), for the Account Book this year for the first time notes payments, 22 March 1774, "for the hire of Horses in The Fair," and 18 June 1774, "To Mr Brooks for attending with the Camels &c. in the Fair." The tradition of bigger and better spectacles seems to have passed on from Rich to Colman.] Receipts: £180 17s. 6d. (Account Book).

1764.] Also THE UPHOLSTERER. As 1 Oct., but Harriet – Miss Valois (playbill); Harriet – Mrs Baker (Public Advertiser).
COMMENT. [Before the performance this evening Macklin came to the audience in person with a sheaf of newspaper clippings in his hand and belabored his detractors, falsely accusing Reddish and Sparks from Drury Lane as leading a planned coalition against him. The play went on with applause, but affidavits sworn under oath by both Sparks and Reddish the following day, brought the dispute to such a head in the newspaper that a riot occurred the night of 18 Nov., when Macklin did Shylock (since Colman would not risk Macbeth after 13 Nov.) and announcement was made by Colman that Macklin had been dismissed. See 23 Oct.] Receipts: £152 11s. 6d. (Account Book).
