COMMENT. "Miss Hilligsberg cannot be praised enough for her exertions and success in the execution of [the second] ballet, which has given her an opportunity of making herself perfect in her profession [this being her 1st season on the stage] . . . The scenery has no doubt been directed by Noverre, and if it is not more magnificent it is not for want of genius on his part, but to spare the purse of the Managers . . . The Palace of Cupid for the reception of Psyché in the first, and that of Venus in the last act, with the appearance of Jupiter, &c. in the skies, were very well executed, and beautifully arranged by the actors" (Public Advertiser, 7 Feb.). Receipts: £202 11s. [non-subscription].
